DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of group I, claims 1, 4, 8, 12, 16 and 18 - 21 in the reply filed on November 23, 2009 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claims 13 – 15 are withdrawn from consideration as being drawn to non-elected subject matter. Claims 1, 4, 8, 12, 16 and 18 -21 have been considered on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 18 – 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 18 – 21, line 1, the recitation of “the disorder” lacks sufficient antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 4, 8 and 18 – 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fujii et al. (US 4639435).

Fujii teaches a method for administering chymotrypsin inhibitors (abstract, col.1 line 45-67, col. 3 line 40-68, claims). Although the reference does not teach the method for increasing GC-C Receptor activity or the claimed disorders, the method steps are the same. Thus by practicing the method of Fujii, one would inherently be practicing the claimed steps of increasing GC-C Receptor activity.

Therefore, the reference anticipates the claimed subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1, 4, 8, 12, 16 and 18 – 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fujii et al. (US 4639435) and Currie (US 5140102).

Fujii teaches a method for administering chymotrypsin inhibitors suitable for increasing intestinal absorption of other active peptide substances that are inactivated by digestive enzymes (abstract, col.1 line 45-67, col. 3 line 40-68, claims). Although the reference does not teach the method for increasing GC-C Receptor activity or the claimed disorders, the method steps are the same. Thus by practicing the method of Fujii, one would inherently be practicing the claimed steps of increasing GC-C Receptor activity.

Fujii does not teach the method wherein the peptide is guanylin. However Currie teaches peptide substances inactivated by digestive enzymes, specifically guanylin, for use in treating intestinal complications (abstract, col.2 line 25-35). At the time of the claimed invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to include guanylin in the method of Fujii since the method suggests the use of peptides that are inactivated by digestive enzymes and guanylin was a known and used peptide inactivated by digestive enzymes as evidenced by Currie. Moreover, at the time of the claimed invention, one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated by the combined teachings of Fujii and Currie to administer a chymotrypsin inhibitor and guanylin together with a reasonable expectation for successfully increasing intestinal absorption of the peptide.

Therefore the claims are rendered unpatentable over the prior art.

Double Patenting

8. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

9. Claims 1, 4, 8, 12, 16 and 18 – 21 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 48 - 56 of copending Application No. 11/908,667. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims encompass the same subject matter.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
